

[per mail am 29. Februar 2012]

Holger Vogel, CEO
IQ Wireless GmbH

Dear Holger

On behalf of the Space Foundation, congratulations on the IQ Wireless' innovative efforts which resulted in the selection of the FireWatch for induction into the 2012 Space Technology Hall of Fame.

IQ Wireless' role in the successful development of this technology is being recognized as an outstanding example of applying space technology for the betterment of life on Earth. IQ Wireless will be inducted as an Innovating Organization into the Space Technology Hall of Fame. We look forward to having you join us to personally receive this award.

The Deutsches Zentrum für Luft- und Raumfahrt's (DLR) will also be inducted as an Innovating Organization for this technology.

The following will be inducted as Innovating Individuals.

Dr. Ekkehard Kuehrt, DLR Institute of Planetary Research
Dr. Joerg Knollenbert, DLR Institute of Planetary Research
Thomas Behnke, DLR Institute of Planetary Research
Prof. Dr. Herbert Jahn, DLR Institute of Robotics and Mechatronics

Again, congratulations and we look forward to having you join us!

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Kevin C. Cook'.

Kevin C. Cook

Director - Space Awareness Programs

SPACE FOUNDATION HEADQUARTERS

4425 ARROWSWEST DRIVE

COLORADO SPRINGS, CO 80907 USA

Mission: To advance space-related endeavors to inspire, enable and propel humanity.